

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We chose Bobud Construction to "fix" a foreclosure property that we bought last year. Jeff Goldberg and Josh Keithley transformed the property that had no kitchen (everything had been ripped), and no powder room into a lovely home. They built our kitchen, the powder room, brought a new gas line to the house, redid our master bathroom (We were extremely happy with what they had done with the kitchen, we decided to redo the bathroom as well with them!), and painted the house.

Anyone who has gone through any remodeling or construction project knows that nothing goes without a hitch. But Josh, our project manager, ensured that our needs were met and made the whole process smooth. We have heard of horror stories from our friends that they had to constantly argue with their contractors to get things done right and even to complete the job. Aren't we glad that we went with Bobud! If you need quality work without losing your sleep over it, we recommend you go with Bobud. We were extremely happy with them.
